Appalachia Bill Is Now Awaiting LBJ's Signature

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's top-priority Appalachia aid bill has cleared Congress and is ready for President Johnson's signature.

The House approved the $1.1-billion measure Wednesday by a vote of 257 to 165 after 16 attempts by Republicans to amend it were defeated by top-heavy counts and a GOP substitute was rejected 323 to 100. The Senate passed the bill last month.

The President was expected to lose no time approving the bill, one of the major items in his "Great Society" legislative program and the first to be passed.

Subject to later appropriations, the bill would authorize federal funds for programs intended to bolster the sagging economy of 360 counties in 11 states of the Appalachian area. These states are Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia. The door was left open for adding 13 New York counties later.

Most of the money, $840 million, would be spent during the next five years to build 3,350 miles of highways and access roads, with the government paying up to 70 per cent of the cost.

Another $252.2 million of government money would be used during the next two years to build health facilities, improve farm and timber lands, restore mining areas, develop water resources and boost federal funds available under existing programs. Local contributions of from 20 to 30 per cent would be required for the non-highway programs.

Administration of the program would be by a commission composed of the governor or a representative of each of the 11 states and a member named by the President and having in effect a veto over any commission decisions. No project could be undertaken in any state without the approval of the state.

Joining in the vote that passed the bill were 232 Democrats and 25 Republicans. Voting against it were 56 Democrats and 109 Republicans.

Republicans centered their efforts on a substitute carrying a $995 million price tag and making eligible for help an estimated 1,400 counties throughout the nation. Only eight Democrats voted for the GOP substitute, while 44 Republicans voted against it.

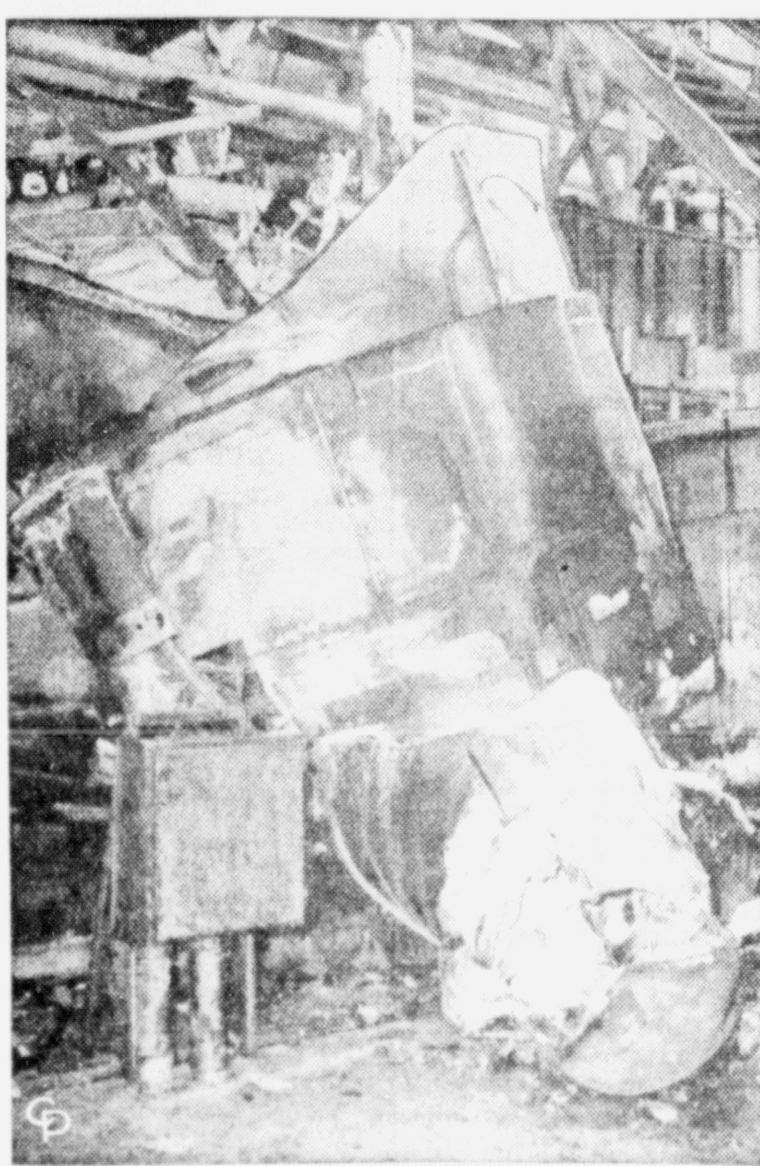

Eleven Republicans in Ohio's delegation voted against the main bill which would provide aid to a large chunk of the state.

Three GOP Buckeye congressmen, John M. Ashbrook of the 17th district, Donald D. Clancy of the 2nd and William H. Harsha of the 6th, joined the entire roll of 10 Ohio Democrats in voting passage.

The measure passed 257-165 and went to President Johnson for signing into law.

Harsha's district, along with those of Democrats Robert T. Secrest (15th), Walter H. Moeller (10th) and Wayne L. Hays (18th), comprise most of the Southeast Ohio area standing to benefit.

Two counties in Ashbrook's district are among the 28 Buckeye counties lined up to receive Appalachia benefits. Tuscarawas County in the 16th district represented by Rep. Frank T. Bow, Canton Republican, also is included, but Bow voted against the bill.

Interstate Highway Plan Is Past Halfway Point

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction on the world's greatest highway program yet conceived — the 41,000-mile U.S. interstate system — is past the halfway mark and just about on schedule.

The program was set up by Congress in 1956 and 1972 set as the target date for completion.

It will consist of 41,000 miles of high-speed highways to connect the nation's principal metropolitan areas, cities and industrial centers and to serve as a defense network of roads if needed.

The system generally is designed to take motorists whizzing along without worries about intersections, traffic lights and jammed city streets.

Today, a little more than eight years after the program was launched, 19,018 miles are open for traffic; construction is under way on another 5,196 miles, while engineering work or right-of-way acquisition is in progress for another 12,103.

The remaining 4,680 miles in the system are listed by the Bureau of Public Roads as in preliminary status or not started.

Thus, about 89 per cent of the system is open or under way. The bureau says the program is about on schedule and that completion in 1972 is possible. However, time is getting short for the drafting of plans for the unstarted segments, a spokesman said.

The pinch, he said, will be on segments in the urban areas — the roads designed to take traffic through, under or around cities. These portions of the system are costly because of the high value of the rights of way involved and frequently the routes are controversial.

When the interstate system was authorized by Congress it called for a network of 40,000 miles of highways to cost an estimated $28 billion. The mileage has been increased to more than 41,000 and the latest cost estimated by the roads administrator, Rex M. Whitton, is $46.8 billion.

The latest estimate represents a $5.8-billion increase over the estimate submitted to Congress in 1961.

Through 1964, a total of $21.7 billion had been spent on the interstate system, roughly $19 billion of it federal money and $2.6 billion state money.

The federal share is financed by highway users through taxes on gasoline, new trucks and buses, tires and tubes and the like.

Youths Wage War in Error On 'Negro'

NORTH HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Three youths accused of waging a campaign of terror against a family they believed was racially mixed had never even met the man they thought was a Negro, police say.

The 16-year-old boys, who called themselves the "Confederation of Connecticut Clansmen," were arrested Wednesday night in this New Haven suburb of 20,000.

Police quoted the head of the family as saying the boys "didn't know me face to face." The family was not identified.

Police said the husband is of Portuguese-Italian descent and his wife of French and English extraction. The couple has two young children.

During the past month, the family has received threatening telephone calls and an abusive letter, police said.

Monday night, a .22-caliber rifle was fired at the family's home, police said.

Police identified the members of the "confederation" as Arthur Johnson, Anthony DePalma and Robert Giaquinto.

Police Lt. Walter Berniere said the boys are from "respected middle-income families."

The youths were charged with assault with intent to commit murder and were released under $5,000 bond each.

Police quoted Johnson, DePalma and Giaquinto as saying they "don't believe in mixed marriages."

Apportioning Proposal Under Bitter Attack

Issue No. 3 Said 'Atrocious' Try To Gain Power

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Reapportionment of Ohio's State Legislature, which will be on the May 4 primary ballot as Issue 3, "represents the most atrocious attempt to seize legislative power ever occurring on the Ohio scene," James D. Nolan said Wednesday.

Nolan, a Cleveland businessman, led a legal fight to the U. S. Supreme Court, which declared unconstitutional Ohio's Hanna Amendment. That amendment ensured every Ohio county at least one representative in the House, regardless of the size of the county.

Issue 3 is backed by Gov. James A. Rhodes and House Speaker Roger Cloud. Nolan said "It allows at least 10 different methods for creating legislative districts," a yet unnamed reapportionment board would have a free hand to carve up counties in a crazy-quilt pattern for election of state representatives, which could increase the number from 137 to at least 170, Nolan said.

Nolan presented his views in a five-page statement.

The argument centers around one key point—how many representatives will be elected to represent a certain number of people.

Issue 3 is the plan to give one representative for each 69,331 persons. But Nolan said the language in the proposal would give the Reapportionment Board power to grant a legislator to a county having a population "substantially equal to" the ratio of 69,331.

Nolan said 58 of Ohio's 88 counties have less than half a ratio (69,331) of people. "This allows the Board of Apportionment to take these small counties and cut, chop and carve them into legislative districts that would suit the political purposes of some fair-haired candidate for the House of Representatives who has powerful (Continued on Page 2)

Owner of Lion Gains Verdict

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Leo the pet lion, center of a controversy between his owner, Howard Sauter of nearby Willow Grove, and the Abington Township Board of Commissioners, was on the winning side in court Wednesday.

Common Pleas Court Judge Robert Honeyman dismissed a complaint which sought to force Sauter, 54, to give up his pet.

The township, acting under an ordinance passed last December outlawing all wild animals, contended that Leo was a potential danger.

Honeyman called the township's complaint insufficient. He said there "must be allegation of nuisance — including, but not limited, to hazardous or dangerous activities to support the prayer for relief."

He gave the township 20 days to amend its complaint.

Thermostat Blamed

Drive-In Kitchen Damaged by Fire

Fire which swept through a kitchen at Noel's King Boy Drive-In yesterday caused damage estimated at $5,000.

The blaze erupted at about 4 p. m. at the Route 22 and Stoutsville Pike restaurant. The fire apparently was caused by a faulty thermostat on a new chicken broaster.

No one was injured, although about eight customers were in the restaurant's dining area prior to the blaze. None of the drive-in's employees who battled the initial flames was hurt.

According to firemen, the faulty thermostat caused about 50 pounds of shortening to overheat. Employees said they were removing chicken from the broaster when suddenly the area around the cooking facility burst into flames.

FIREMEN said flames from the shortening started a chain reaction type of fire around other equipment in the kitchen. City firefighters remained at the scene for about 1½ hours until they were satisfied the blaze was extinguished.

Chief Bernard Wolfe said firemen were forced to cut into a ceiling above the kitchen to reach flames around the broaster. He said about half of the water carried in the fire truck's tank was used. No chemical extinguishers were needed.

Assisting Chief Wolfe at the scene were Lt. Fred Howell and

Vietnamese Losses Heavy

February Casualty Total Is 4,140

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Vietnamese armed forces suffered their heaviest casualties yet against the Viet Cong during February, U.S. military officials reported today.

The report said 870 men were killed, 1,820 wounded and 1,450 missing. Many of the missing was presumed to have deserted. The total of 4,140 compared with the previous high of 4,050 in December 1964.

The roll of American combat dead for February totaled 43, also above the monthly average. Most of these men were killed in the Viet Cong attacks on American installations at Pleiku and Qui Nhon, which prompted retaliatory air strikes at North Viet Nam. Eight were killed at Pleiku Feb. 7 and 23 in the bombing of a U.S. enlisted men's billet at Qui Nhon Feb. 10.

U.S. officials estimated the Viet Cong suffered 2,065 casualties, a figure equalled in official reports only twice before — in March and December 1964.

Vietnamese figures on Communist losses are usually somewhat higher. American officials here discount them as not backed up by accurate count in the field.

The American report also listed a new high in loss of government weapons — 2,590 — while the Viet Cong lost 655 weapons the combat.

The Communists lost more than 3,500 weapons captured after the sinking of a munitions ship on the central Vietnamese coast. The ship is believed to have carried the weapons directly from North Viet Nam. This cache was not counted in the report because the weapons were never in combat.

Finance Groups Asked To Cut Foreign Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board has written 750 financial organizations asking them to slow the amount of dollars sent abroad.

The board, at the request of President Johnson, previously asked banks to cut foreign loans, and major industrial firms to reduce their overseas investments.

Board Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. said Wednesday's letter went to insurance companies, investment firms and other financial organizations.

Residential Area Seared

10 of Louisiana Dead Are Children

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP)

— A high-pressure natural gas pipeline exploded in a residential area north of here early today and officials said at least 17 and possibly more persons were killed.

Norman Fletcher, Natchitoches Parish Civil Defense director, said ten of the 17 known dead were children. Two or three persons unaccounted for also are children, he said.

At least nine persons were taken to a hospital for treatment of injuries. Their conditions were not serious.

The blast occurred on Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. 32-inch line shortly after 6 a. m.

The blast and billowing flames destroyed five frame homes across State Highway 1 from the country club. Eight automobiles were melted by the intense heat.

Flames leaped upward of 400 to 500 feet in the cloudless sky and seared an area about 200 yards square in the vicinity of the five houses. A crater 200 yards wide was created.

The flames kept back rescue workers until Tennessee Gas crews managed to shut off the flow of gas.

Peking Tells Soviet Junk Khrush Policy

TOKYO (AP) — Peking told Moscow today to junk all of Nikita Khrushchev's policies if it wants to restore unity to the Communist world.

"N. S. Khrushchev has vanished from the political arena, but Khrushchevism is not dead and buried," said the official Peking People's Daily. "A glance at the propaganda in the Soviet press these days makes this abundantly clear."

The Moscow-Peking dispute "will never end as long as there are still those who believe in Khrushchev revisionism, who follow it and disseminate it, until the day when it is swept clean away," said the paper.

In Moscow, sources said the conference of 19 Communist parties — originally expected to end Tuesday — may be prolonged until Friday or Saturday by a dispute over what to say publicly about the Red Chinese challenge to Soviet policies.

Communist sources in Moscow said a Soviet draft of the conference's final communique referred to the Moscow-Peking dispute only in general terms and stressed the need for unity.

Rough Weather Is Tapering Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Blustery weather which has buffeted north-central areas this week appeared tapering off today as the snow belt stretched southward deep into the Mississippi Valley.

Heavy snow, with gusty winds, hit sections of Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Missouri, Southern Illinois and western Kentucky. Amounts measured six inches in some areas and strong winds caused much drifting. Light snow continued in parts of South Dakota and Iowa and freezing drizzle fell on the heavy snow covering in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Cold air also spread from the northern Midwest into Southern areas, with freezing temperatures extending to San Antonio, Tex. Readings were in the teens and 20s in much of the Midwest snow belt, with lower marks in North Dakota.

Man Arrested For Illegally Buying Drugs

Circleville Police today ended a month long search when they arrested George Clifford Karr, 43, Chillicothe. He was charged with illegal procurement of an "exempt drug."

A hearing has been scheduled tomorrow in Municipal Court. Judge Sterling M. Lamb set appearance bond at $1,000.

Police said Karr had been purchasing paragon and was signing narcotic books at local drugstores with a fictitious name and address.

During the past month he had made several purchases of the narcotic drug at local stores, officers said.

PATROLMEN Jack Mills and William Bruns made the arrest early today.

Police Chief Robert Temple commended local druggists for cooperating with city police in the case.

Billy Sol Estes Finally Wins One

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes won what was possibly his last inning in court, but it was too late to keep the one-time captain of farm finance out of prison.

A federal court jury acquitted him Wednesday of fudging in sworn accounts of how much he owed to obtain Commodity Credit Corp. contracts paying more than $5 million a year for storage of surplus grain.

Estes, 40, was convicted in two earlier trials on state charges of swindling and federal charges of mail fraud and conspiracy, both based on dealings on around $24-million worth of mostly worthless mortgages on farm fertilizer tanks.

28 SE Ohio Counties Eye Development of Airports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The federal Appalachia program and a proposed $290-million bond issue could spur work on building or improving airports in 28 Ohio counties.

Detailed county-by-county plans for seeking airport improvements were mapped at a meeting Wednesday involving representatives of the 28 Ohio counties covered in the federal Appalachia program, officials of the Federal Aviation Agency and officials of state agencies.

The $290-million bond issue proposed by Gov. James A. Rhodes includes $5 million for airports, which he says are needed to spur the state's industrial growth. Each of the 28 Appalachia counties would be eligible for $100,000 in state funds from the bond issue for new airports.

Federal funds, up to 80 per cent of the total cost, will be available in some cases. But not all the 28 counties are eligible for federal assistance now.

Lawrence County, for instance doesn't qualify for federal aid now because there is a federally assisted airport across the Ohio River in West Virginia.

In some cases, efforts will be made to improve present airports. In others, efforts will be to build a new airport.

Athens County, for instance, has an airport, but it needs improvement. Jackson County, on the other hand, has no airport now.

B. B. Mills of Ironton, chairman of the airport committee of the 28-county Ohio Valley Regional Development Council, said details were spelled out for what each county must do to qualify for building or improving an airport.

Action must start at the local level, with either a city or county governing body initiating a program.

Gerald Curtin, FAA district airport engineer, said 16 of the 28 counties now qualify for federal aid, but that it is unlikely all areas which apply for assistance will get it.

Details of Ohio's share of the new Appalachia program are not yet known, but Mills said it should "speed things up" in airport work.

Short Lenten Season Proposed by Bishop

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Horace W.B. Donegan, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York, has proposed a shortening of the 40-day Lenten season to the two weeks preceding Easter—or perhaps to Holy Week alone.

In an Ash Wednesday sermon, he said the "quiet pace of a 17th century Lent is impossible for people living in 20th century New York."

Goldwater-Backer Loses Bet, Leaves Country

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Last November Robert Ansett told his boss that he had such faith in Republican Barry Goldwater's chance for the presidency that he'd leave the country if he lost.

Early this morning Ansett, his wife, their three children and another couple and their three children sailed aboard the SS Iberia for Australia and a new home.

"My bet just brought the situation to a head faster than it would have been," said Ansett, 31.

"We'd have left sooner or later anyway, with things here the way they are."

Peter Kemmsies, 30, Ansett's neighbor in San Diego and now traveling companion, said they had been thinking about leaving for several months.

"This country has treated us well," said Kemmsies, a construction firm owner. "But we can't live in the past. I have a responsibility to my wife and my kids to make sure that they'll have an opportunity to think for themselves."

"The way the United States is going, government even reg-

Ansett, a bakery route salesman, said "Australia presently is more socialistic than the United States but the trend there is toward conservatism. It's just the opposite here," he said.

Specifically, Ansett said he objected to the tax structure, Social Security, government controls on commerce and "taking the initiative from the individual."

"There just isn't the opportunity now that there was when the country was young," he said.

Kemmsies agreed, adding, "we're not bitter. But if our children want to be independent and think and do for themselves without all the government controls they'll just have to get out of here. It's a great country, but it's not what it used to be."

How did their wives react? "I came home," said Kemmsies, "and said: 'Baby, let's go to Australia.'" She said, "O.K."

Ansett said it took five minutes to convince his wife that the move was a good idea.

Each couple has three children, two boys and a girl. The oldest of the six children is 7, the youngest, 2.

"They're all looking forward to the trip," said Mrs. Kemmsies.

Both families sold their homes, cars and furniture to buy their tickets. Both confided that there would be little money left for luxuries.

"There are a lot of jobs available in Australia," Ansett said. "We'll just have to take whatever comes along at first and plan from there."

Stock Mart Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the airlines, color television makers and selected issues were strong in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Blue chips were taking a back seat and the main interest was in secondary items, some of them in the lower-priced bracket.

The airlines got additional impetus from a report that domestic airline traffic and profits are gaining substantially above the record levels of 1964. Some of the color TV manufacturers continued to ride on reports of booming demand for the color sets.

Big Three motors were all firm and the major steelmakers were about unchanged but rails edged off irregularly and most major groups were very uneven.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 336.1 with industrials off .1, rails off .2 and utilities off .5.

Fulbright Raps Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright asked Congress today to make major changes in the Johnson administration's "single package" $3.38-billion foreign aid bill.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called for a separation of military and economic assistance, greater selectivity in countries and projects to be aided, long-range authorizations and a heavy shift from direct U.S. development loans to multilateral lending by international institutions.

But he emphasized he was not criticizing the theory of foreign aid or the size of the administration's request.

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, Fulbright recalled serving notice on the administration last October he would refuse to lead the fight in the Senate again for an omnibus measure lumping all direct foreign aid into one omnibus bill.

The administration, after a declaration by Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, that he was "unalterably opposed" to separating the legislation, sent up an omnibus bill. The House unit is in the midst of hearings on it.

Fulbright said he has had "a notable lack of success" over the years in attempts to separate the programs.

"I had hoped that this year the administration might begin," the Arkansas Democrat said. "I still hope that Congress, on its own initiative, will begin the separation of military and economic ingredients of the package and will put substantially more of the development lending program under multilateral management."

As a starter, Fulbright said he was introducing today as a separate bill one part of President Johnson's $3.38-billion foreign aid request — that dealing with proposed economic aid. It calls for $2.2 billion in appropriations for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He said he was not introducing legislation to support the White House request for more than $1.17 billion in military aid because of his objection to "mixing military and economic assistance," and his belief that military assistance should be part of the defense budget.

Later, after the Foreign Relations Committee starts hearings Tuesday on the foreign aid legislation, Fulbright said he will offer other amendments.

friends in Columbus.

"The public is being asked to buy a pig in a poke," he said. Nolan said the resolution putting the plan on the ballot "was written in the dark of night in the governor's office and not a single public hearing was held in the House."

Nolan listed 23 counties that do not have a congressional district within their boundaries but have more than 69,331 people. He said parts of these counties might be lopped off and attached to another, naming the counties as: Wood, Miami, Wayne, Tuscarawas, Muskingum, Clermont Belmont, Scioto, Licking, Portage, Ashtabula, Greene, Jefferson, Allen, Columbiana, Richland, Clark, Lake, Butler, Trumbull, Lorain, Mahoning and Stark.

"The proposed scheme in Issue 3 is far worse than the difficulties we had from the Hanna amendment," Nolan said in a statement detailing results of his study on the reapportionment proposal.

He said he favors "A simple, honest plan that was written into the Ohio Constitution in 1851 apportionment formula."

Unemployed Total Climbs To 5 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate increased slightly in February, mounting to 5 per cent, the Labor Department reported today.

January's rate had been 4.8 per cent, the lowest since October 1957. The February figure was even with that for December but down from the 5.4 per cent of February 1964.

The Labor Department said most of the increase in joblessness was among women.

Employment rose in line with seasonal expectations in February, the department said. Civilian employment increased 500,000 to 69.5 million.

The department said the increase in unemployment among women was not expected to change and that it accounted for the increase in the seasonally adjusted joblessness rate.

Total unemployment mounted by about 200,000 to 4.2 million the department said.

"The job picture for adult men continued strong, and the teen-age employment situation showed moderate improvement in February," it said.

Police said Anderson was shot with a .22 caliber rifle following a day-long drinking bout in Moore's apartment.

Solons Okay Payment on Animal Claims

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners completed their initial quarterly session of the year yesterday by approving payment for 10 animal and sheep claims filed by county growers.

The payments will amount to $663.75, including witness fees. The claims, reviewed during each quarterly session by the solons, will be paid from funds acquired through the purchase of dog licenses.

The 10 claims filed amounted to $605. Witness fees were listed at $58.75 to round out the total of $663.75.

In other business, the lawmakers met with Trustees from Washington and Walnut Townships to discuss placement of stop signs within the two political subdivisions.

THE intersections involved are at the Bell Station - Fairfield and Ringgold - Southern Roads and the Circleville-Winchester and Red Bridge-East Ringgold Roads.

Taking part in the discussion were Trustees James Pierce and Loring Leist of Washington Twp. and Russell Spangler, Ernest Barr and Donald Balhaster of Walnut.

The commissioners indicated that proper resolutions outlining the stop sign installations will be drawn this week and acted on at Monday's meeting.

50-Mile Mass March Slated

Alabama Negroes Going to Capitol

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. plans to lead off a 50-mile mass march from Selma to the state Capitol at Montgomery Sunday to dramatize pleas for liberalization of Alabama's voting laws.

King, who delivered a funeral sermon Wednesday for a Negro laborer shot to death during an outbreak of racial violence in Marion the night of Feb. 18, said the march definitely is scheduled to begin Sunday afternoon.

King said he plans to head the long procession at the outset but may leave the line after the march begins and return as it nears Montgomery.

The marching Negroes, who King hopes will number from 500 to 800, will seek to get the state voting laws liberalized while the Alabama Legislature is in special session. The session was called to consider Gov. George Wallace's education bills.

King, cutting short a visit to Washington, flew back to Alabama to pay a martyr's tribute to Jimmie Lee Jackson, 26, then left again for New York. The Negro integration leader and Nobel Peace Prize winner was scheduled to speak there today to the women's division of the United Jewish Appeal.

In a funeral sermon at Marion for Jackson, a Baptist deacon and leader in the right to vote battle in Perry County, King promised an unending campaign for racial equality in Alabama. "We are going to march through the streets until every Negro can vote," he vowed.

After King delivered the eulogy, he led an estimated 700 Negroes on a four-mile march in the rain to the burial grounds in a wooded area a few feet off Alabama Highway 14.

Jackson fell mortally wounded only a short distance from the Zion Methodist Church where mourners gathered 12 days later to pay their respects.

taken to the National Guard Armory, where Dr. Charles Cook, the parish coroner, began the task of identification.

Rescue crews searched the rubble as the flames died out in a hunt for more bodies.

Natchitoches is in northwest Louisiana about 100 miles south-east of Shreveport.

Charles Cunningham, publisher of the weekly Natchitoches Enterprise lives in the vicinity of the explosion. He said the blast looked like a bolt of lightning.

"Then there was a rumble like thunder," he said. "I thought perhaps it was thunder or a sonic boom. Then I went to the window and saw the flames."

Rescue workers, moving into the area after the flow of gas was stopped, found the body of Mrs. William E. Ammons, about 25, in a ditch across the highway and about 60 feet from her house. Her baby daughter's body was lying in the road about 50 feet from the house.

Her husband and three other children escaped with minor burns.

Nine persons were killed in another house. Six of these bodies were found in the wreckage and three others had been hurled outside by the force of the explosion.

Police Chief Boyd Burr said he knew exactly what had happened when he saw the flames — described as brighter than the sun by another resident.

The same line blew up in the spring of 1954, with no casualties.

U.S. Special Forces Plagued by Treachery

KHE SAHN, South Viet Nam (AP) — For the U.S. Special Forces team at this isolated mountain camp near North Viet Nam, the front line begins at the barbed wire that separates it from the Vietnamese troops its members advise.

Special Forces camps have been overrun in the past, and the only Medal of Honor awarded so far in the Viet Nam war came out of such an action. A Special Forces officer said that in each case of camps being overrun, treachery inside played a key part.

Because the Special Forces recruit their own mercenary forces in the area in which they operate, each camp gets some Viet Cong guerrillas. The official figure here is about a third. The Communists are weeded out and shot as fast as possible but because of the high turnover in Special Forces, more keep appearing.

In the past, there also have been instances of regular government troops deserting their American advisers in the face of attack.

In Special Forces camps, teams of 12 or more Americans work with their Vietnamese counterparts to form companies of "hired guns" to combat the Viet Cong in their own backyard.

A demolitions sergeant stationed in the southern part of the camp noted that at one camp which was overrun, the post's machine guns were turned inside the camp when the attack came.

He proposed secretly placing electrical mines under the machine-gun emplacements at his camp. He wanted to be able to detonate the mines from inside the American command bunker in case the machine guns started firing the wrong way during an attack.

Court Is Requested To Enter Union Fuss

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County Common Pleas Court is considering a request to intervene in a struggle inside the Communications Workers of America.

Mel C. Kauffman of Cincinnati, suspended president of local 4390, Wednesday asked the court to restrain the international union from taking over the local and to prevent it from trying him on fraud charges stemming from last fall's election. Kauffman defeated J. C. Jones Jr. of Akron in that election for presidency of the local that has members in several Ohio cities.

Poll Costs: 29 Cents

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — William S. Fields, filing his aldermanic election campaign expense report, said his lone contribution was 29 cents from his wife, Donna, for writing paper.

Nung tribesmen are kept inside the inner wire as bodyguards for the Americans. The Nungs racially are Chinese, antagonistic to nearly every other ethnic group in Viet Nam and considered completely loyal to their U.S. advisers.

Asked if the question of the Nungs' loyalty sometimes bothered him, M.Sgt. Thomas Barrett, 39, of Brooklyn, N.Y., said:

"If we didn't trust them the whole team would be awake, nervous and on guard with weapons in their hands 23 hours a day. We have to trust them."

Outside the compound are the barracks of the strike force companies.

In case of attack, most Special Forces cannot expect early relief, especially in the mountains. Overland routes normally are in the hands of the Viet Cong, and bad weather often bars planes or helicopters from reaching mountain camps.

Sgt. I.C. Donald E. Williams of Collinsville, Ill., recalled the death from heart attack of a comrade in another camp. Over the radio crackled a message that Seashore — the man's code name — "apparently suffered a heart attack." Twenty minutes later came, "Seashore getting worse." Finally it was, "Seashore dead."

It was four days before an aircraft was able to find a hole in the clouds and pick up t body.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — One reason that business prospects look so good just now is a very prosaic set of figures kept by factory bookkeepers. They show the ration of new orders to shipments, to inventories, to unfilled orders.

Of all the indicators of where business is heading the one that corporate treasurers find most convincing is a buildup in new orders on the company books. And if these grow faster than stocks pile up, business prospects look glowing indeed.

The backlog of unfilled orders means busy weeks or months ahead for the lucky factories or distributors. And if stocks on hand are increasing at less than a feverish pace, the economy looks that much the healthier.

Latest figures compiled by the Department of Commerce show factory orders have risen to another record high. In many industries, although not all, shipments also have boomed. This tends to hold down the total of unfilled orders. But they are impressive right now, and factory inventories have only edged higher rather than soared.

This means that ordering, except for steel and a few other items where strike threats raise shortage fears, is based on the healthy reason that the goods are wanted now, and are being used up fairly promptly in the general prosperity.

For all manufacturing, new orders in January hit a record $39.7 billion, with durable goods accounting for $21.3 billion of that, in January 1964 durables had $18.5 billion of a total $35 billion.

Unfilled orders on manufacturing books rose to $57.2 billion, compared with $50 billion in January 1964. Durable goods accounted for $54.3 billion of this year's total, against $47 billion the previous year.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I am a single girl and work in a large office surrounded by many young men and women of about my age of 28. Even though I am always invited to come along for coffee breaks and lunches, I try to avoid going because I'm afraid that my breath is offensive. My family assures me that there is no odor, but I think that maybe they are just being kind and don't want to tell me. Every time there is any casual references to the subject of mouth odor, I go into a sweat and panic. How can I be sure that I do not offend? I want so much to be a part of the group.

Dear Miss S.: You would be amazed to know how often your story is told to doctors everywhere. It is surprising, to how often there is no real basis for the "bad breath anxiety."

The "even your best friend won't tell you" campaigns, unfortunately, can produce even greater anxiety in those who are already sensitive and concerned about this possibility.

You refuse to believe your family. You feel that they may be withholding the truth in order to avoid hurting you.

How can you get positive assurance? A detailed physical and dental examination will rule out teeth and gum infections, diseased tonsils, adenoids or sinuses, and also eliminate the possibility of a mouth odor due to diet, allergy, stomach, intestinal or liver disorders.

If an odor is present, the basic underlying cause can usually be discovered and corrected.

But if scientific evidence and the impartial opinion of a doctor and a dentist still fail to convince you that there is no odor, then you may benefit from a psychological investigation.

The Status Impact

CHICAGO — The desire to be liberal and decent about things and the desire to rise in the world, which is not a bad thing in itself, are clashing all over America, and the impact of this on educational problems is going to make things worse before they get better.

In Chicago, as in recently integrated Washington, D. C., anyone is free to attend a neighborhood school. But white families, here as in the nation's capital, are obviously "voting with their feet," as the tremendous growth of the suburbs attests. The result is that de facto segregation takes over in spite of the best will of Chicago School Superintendent Benjamin Willis.

The cynic would say that the exodus of white populations from blocks "busted" by Negroes proves that human beings are incurable snobs. But mixed up with the snobs desire for status, which is undoubtedly a controlling factor in many instances, there is also the hunger for excellence. The intermingled desire for status and the hunger for excellence weave a strange pattern that brings out the same type of good and bad responses in both blacks and whites, and the social psychologists who are called upon to pronounce upon the whole business seem powerless to come up with constructive suggestions.

One trouble is that the remedial educational problem resulting from the northward migration of Negroes becomes complicated by the Negroes' own insistence on what might be called instant status.

An eleven-year-old Negro boy from Mississippi who has had five years of schooling that fails to meet northern standards does not take lightly to being returned to the third or fourth grade, which may be his proper level. To be put back is "discrimination." The result is that in newly mixed schools the shuggards who must be carried along with their own age groups constitute a drag on the more gifted and the better prepared children. And white families of your family cannot uncover or remove the underlying reasons for the distress that deprives you of normal social activity and affects your happiness.

Overwhelming concern about nonexistent conditions of the body deserves the attention of a trained psychotherapist. It is no greater shame to seek help for an emotional problem than it is to seek help for a fractured leg. The results can be truly gratifying.

Once your basic problem is solved, strict dental hygiene and the use of mouth washes and rinses will offer added assurance and help to maintain your self-confidence.

that wish, quite understandably, for the best possible education for their offspring either turn to private schools or pick up and move elsewhere.

The remedial problem could be solved by honestly administered school grade "placing," as is advocated by Dr. Frances Ilg of the Gesell Institute. But this, in the touchy circumstances that arise from the Negroes' migration, offers a rather ruthless cure. A more practicable way of meeting the problem is to make classes smaller, and to provide for summer school and after - hours remedial work, which Chicago is trying to do.

In the end the problem will undoubtedly solve itself in a mixture of ways that range from the utterly unlovely to the quite desirable. Intellectually homogeneous grouping will be achieved to some extent by the continued flight of white families to the suburbs. This is not the sort of grouping that integrationists desire, but it is what seems inevitable. In Washington, D. C., to recur to the most obvious example, the exodus of the whites has presented Dr. Carl Hansen, the school superintendent, with a Negro school population of 85 per cent. The homogeneous grouping that results from de facto segregation makes it easier for the Washington teacher, who no longer has to struggle with the more complex problems of student "tracking." And, though the desertion of the whites in Washington has resulted in a defeat for the ideal of human brotherhood, it may be something less than calamitous.

Dr. Hansen's accent on the so-called "basics" of education is demonstrably working a miracle in some Washington school districts. The Amidon School which has been Dr. Hansen's showplace, has already proved itself by giving good reading and writing instruction to even the lowest 1. Q. children. If it turns out that Negroes in Washington, D. C. are receiving better educations than white children in the suburbs, it could conceivably, spark a middle class return to the city.

What Dr. Hansen has started in one place can be imitated elsewhere. But it demands less accent on "instant status" and more concentration on educational "basics," including effective ways of teaching reading, than is now to be observed in many American cities. In Chicago, Superintendent Willis has been giving the Hansen formula a good try in spite of the clamor of the "instant status" element that thinks excellence can be had by such sociological devices as bussing students from place to place.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Viet Nam is President Johnson's Cuba.

Johnson, in a way, is doing to the Communist world in Viet Nam what President Kennedy did to it with the Cuban missile showdown in 1962, even though the two situations may not seem parallel.

Senate Dems Again Block Rhodes Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats in the Ohio Senate have blocked another appointment by Gov. James A. Rhodes over angry Republican protest that marked the stormiest session of the 106th General Assembly.

They also shoved through a resolution Wednesday asking the governor to end interviews by private industry of persons named by the governor as public members of state agencies.

The resolution was offered by Democratic leader Frank W. King, who asserted that published accounts of such interviews indicate "a situation bordering on scandal."

Democrats came out of the heated session victorious although Republicans protested at every turn in the parliamentary maneuvering.

Democrats are enjoying a temporary 16-15 margin in the 32-member senate due to the illness of Cincinnati Republican Fred L. Hoffmann, who is recovering from surgery and may be absent up to three more weeks.

Rejected by a strict party-line vote was the appointment of Joseph Cippolone, Parma Republican named by Rhodes to the three-member Industrial Commission. Four other Rhodes appointments were turned down by Democrats last week.

It was recalled that the 1963 GOP-dominated Senate rejected more than 70 nominations by Democrat Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Republican Lt. Gov. John Brown, who presides over the upper chamber, triggered the latest fireworks when he ruled King out of order on an appeal from a chair ruling.

The appeal involved Brown's declaration that the appointment of Cippolone was not rejected because the Senate "failed to act." An attorney general's opinion is being awaited on constitutional language which says, in effect, that if the Senate takes no action on an appointment submitted during the legislative session then the appointment is automatically approved.

Republicans claim 17 votes are needed to reject an appointment just as 17 are needed to confirm. Democrats claim any total short of 17 rejects the appointment.

Brown said he had conferred with the attorney general on the question and that he was not out of order in rejecting King's appeal.

At that point, the Democratic leader rose, pounding his desk and declared: "The attorney general is not running this Senate, and the executive department is not going to take over this Senate."

Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, moved for a recess, during which leaders of both parties caucused for a showdown. When they returned to the chamber, Brown announced his ruling would stand but that he would allow King's appeal.

Democrats then voted against a motion to sustain the chair's ruling and Cippolone's appointment was rejected, for the time being at least.

Omaha Lawyer Parleys With Akron Family

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Harry Farnham, attorney for John (Fritz) Johnson of Omaha planned to continue today meeting with members of the family of Lawrence J. Bader, who disappeared nearly eight years ago after a boating mishap.

Johnson and Bader, who was declared legally dead in 1960, are the same person, the attorney has conceded, but Johnson says he has no recollection of a life as Larry Bader. Johnson has not contacted his wife here. He has a wife in Omaha and has indicated he hopes to continue his life there.

'Pump Theory' Helps Student Understand, Master 'New Math'

EDITOR'S NOTE —Want to get the answer to 2 plus 2 equals X? Well, get a pump and a tank and a camera. Let Katie Mueller tell you all about it in the following fourth of five articles on the "new math." At the age of 14 she's been dealing with the "new math" for three years.

By KATIE MUELLER

Mathematicians have taken pumps and tanks and cameras and projectors and put them together in the "pump theory" to help explain some of the new math.

They're not saying that a pump subtracted from a tank equals a projector. What they actually do with the pump theory is explain very simply why the products and quotients of Negative and Positive numbers are what they are.

Let's try to explain some of this confusion.
In my previous article I explained the "real numbers" with which the new math deals. That is, the concept that any number less than zero is a Negative number and any number greater than zero is a Positive number.

I said that Negative number multiplied by a Positive number always produces a Negative number, and a lot of other stuff. But, since the new math was developed to teach the "why" as well as the "how" of certain mathematical procedures, let's turn to the pump theory.

Suppose you had a pump that could pump water into and out of a tank. And suppose, too, that you could take a motion picture of the water level going up or down as the pump worked. And we'll assume that you have a film projector that runs the film both backward and forward.

Now, pump water into the tank, film the water level rising, and run the film forward through the projector. Naturally, on the screen you will see the water level rising — going in a Positive direction.

But let's say you run the film backward. On the screen you would see the water level going down — going in a Negative direction.

These two examples show us that:

1. A Positive number — water flowing into the tank — multiplied or divided by a Positive number, the film running forward through the projector, equals a Positive number. That's the picture on the screen showing the water level going up.

2. A Positive number — water flowing into the tank — multiplied or divided by a Negative number, which is the film running backward through the projector, equals a Negative number or the picture on the screen showing the water level going down.

If the film was made of water being pumped out of the tank, and the film was run forward through the projector, the screen would show the water level going down. But, if the same film were run backward through the projector, the screen would show the water level going up.

From this we can see that:

1. A Negative number multiplied or divided by a Positive number results in a Negative number. That is the same as No. 2 right above.

2. A Negative number multiplied or divided by a Negative number results in a Positive number. That is the same as No. 1 right above.

CCL Members Present Play at Spring Luncheon

"The Lost Kiss," a play written by Margaret Douglass, was presented for members and guests at the Child Conservation League Spring Luncheon Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church.

The personification of a kiss was the theme of the comedy. It was unable to be seen by the eyes of the people, but was felt on the cheeks of various characters, causing some indignant reactions.

Members participating in the play included: Mrs. Glenn McCoy, maiden lady; Mrs. J. M. Stallings, a kiss; Mrs. Clifford Bowser, Pierrett and young man; Mrs. Donald Hill, young girl; Mrs. Ed Grigg, grandma; Mrs. William Richards, a man; Mrs. Robert McKelvey, Pierrot; Mrs. Walter Yamerick, policeman.

Mrs. Ken Luna was program chairman, Mrs. David Yates, director, Mrs. Richard Penn, baby sitter, Mrs. Luna, costumes and scenery, Mrs. Roger May, table decorations.

Following the play Mrs. Glenn McCoy, president, presented a few remarks to the group.

The table decorations featured a kite caught in the branches of a spring tree and a small girl sitting beneath it.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Stale Mate for Divorcee

DEAR ABBY: I am 28, divorced, and have three beautiful children. I still date my ex-husband because I love him very much. He says he still cares for me, but he refuses to discuss or even consider marrying me again because he can not trust me. I don't blame him because I can't even trust myself. (That's why we were divorced.) Should I stop dating him and quit wasting my time? Or do you think there is some way I can get him to change his mind?

DEAD END
DEAR END: You can't get him to change his mind until you change your ways. If you can't trust yourself, you can't expect him to trust you. Three children and a good husband are worth straightening yourself out for. You need professional help. If your "ex" knows you are trying to overcome your weaknesses your chances may be enhanced immeasurably.

DEAR ABBY: I wish I knew how to answer people who ask me questions that embarrass me. Such as, "Is it true that your boss is cheating on his wife with some girl in the office?" And, "How come your brother's wife got the children when they were divorced when everyone knows she is the biggest tramp in town?" Also, "How much money did your husband get when his old lady passed away?" These questions are nobody's business and, besides, I don't know the answers anyway, but I never know what to say.

TONGUE-TIED
DEAR TONGUE-TIED: Combine the two facts and reply, "I really don't know. But then, it's not my business."

DEAR ABBY: My best friend is a living doll, which is a lot more than you can say for me. We are both 16. My friend, whom I shall call Mary, is not only the most beautiful girl you've ever laid eyes on, but she has a terrific personality. As far as brains go I am happy to say that we are both at the head of our class. My problem: Mary can have any boy she wants—So why does she always go after the boy I want? She really does not care for the boy, but if she knows I want him, she goes after him. I pretend I don't care. But I care a lot. Should I tell her how I feel and ask her not to do it? Dick was the last straw.

SECOND PLACE
DEAR SECOND: Don't ask your girl friend to step aside so that you'll have a clear field to zero in on a certain boy. Do the best you can with what you have. Who wants a boy friend through the generosity of a girl friend?

CONFIDENTIAL TO INFORMATION PLEASE: Yes, a girl who has no high school diploma may join the armed forces. She must be 18, and must take an examination to determine whether or not she is qualified for a high school diploma. This test is given to her at her local high school. She can, if she wishes, complete her high school education while in the armed forces. Additional information regarding enlisting in the armed forces is available at all recruiting stations.

Program Highlights Meet

The program was highlighted with a reading presented by Mrs. Mary McKenzie when members of the Salem Woman's Christian Temperance Union met Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Pearl Patrick, Route 1, Kingston, was hostess.

Mrs. Paul Hankins Sr., vice president, presented devotions. She read a poem, presented Scripture and assisted the group in singing "Are Ye Able." Pledge to the American Christian and Temperance Flag was given.

Mrs. McKenzie read, "Satellites and Postcards" during the program and members voted to purchase 100 of the leaflets to be distributed as a project during the Lenten season.

A panel discussion, "Blue Print for Progress" and "Crossroads" was presented by Mrs. Patrick and Mrs. Harry Sharrett. Mrs. Hankins reviewed the study book.

Mrs. Sharrett gave the secretary's report. Communications were read from Mrs. Harold Brown, Columbus, state president, and Mrs. Wayne Stonerock, niece of the late Miss Mary Harpster.

A card of cheer was signed by members to be sent to Miss Edna Rice, treasurer, who is a patient in Chillicothe Hospital.

It was announced that the mid-year Institute will be held Mar. 23-25 at the Chittenden Hotel, Columbus. Mrs. Patrick closed the meeting with prayer.

A dessert course was served.

You may want to try some of the butter-type cake recipes using sour cream because the cream usually adds a rich, moist quality.

Girl Scout Program Held

Approximately 200 persons attended the Thinking Day program held Sunday, at the 4-H Grange building for the Girl Scouts of Five Trails Neighborhood.

Thinking Day is observed by Girl Scouts to honor Juliette Low, the founder of Girl Scouting in the United States. Each girl is urged to evaluate the place Girl Scouting has in her life and reflect upon the ideals Juliette Low set forth as a standard.

Troop No. 425 conducted the flag ceremony. The Invocation was given by the Rev. R. J. Varnell of the Church of God. Mrs. Thomas Downing, assisted by Senior troop No. 784, led in several scouting songs.

Mrs. Robert Brehmer Jr. gave a short talk on the use of the contributions each troop gives to the Juliette Low World Fund. The film "The World and Her Book" was shown.

Mrs. Dick Redman arranged a floral centerpiece for the contribution table and Mrs. Ward Skinner arranged the centerpiece for the refreshment table. The refreshments were donated by the Blue Ribbon Dairy.

Troops No. 221 and No. 759 served as hostesses. Juanita Johnston, member of senior troop No. 784 was mistress of ceremonies.

A suggestion of subtle plaid texture is quietly wrapped in wool/mohair looped fabric. Softly rounded Chelsea collar, gently flaring line and recessed pockets create a model of understatement.

Pocket compliments galore in this light-and-frothy mohair. It's twice as pretty because the collar and flaps above the patch pockets are neatly double-stitched.

Dayton Firm Hiring Mutes Is Honored

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A company which grew with only deaf workmen from a basement shop to a worldwide business gets a governmental citation today for its expanding overseas trade.

The practice of hiring deaf-mutes developed "without any predetermination," said R. J. Rahn, who started the Rahn Granite Surface Plate Co. in his basement during World War II.

But it has paid off in dependable factory workers who polish granite surfaces to tolerances 1-128th the thickness of a human hair. The polished plates provide dependably flat surfaces for making industrial measurements.

The firm's first deaf employee was Rahn's son, Ivan. Its second was a friend Ivan met through a "hard of hearing club."

Now the company has 22 deaf employees.

Dr. Leonard M. Elstad, president of Gallaudet College, a Washington, D. C., school for the deaf, will present the company its "E" for excellence in exporting from the Commerce Department. He'll accompany his speech with a sign language translation so the employees can understand it.

Your Income Tax

Question, Answer Column

EDITORS NOTE: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the district office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service. It is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Is it true that the child care deduction has been increased? If so, how much can I deduct this year?

A — The maximum deduction remains $600 for one child or dependent but goes up to $900 for two or more children. Other changes which will benefit taxpayers qualifying for this deduction are the inclusion of children under 13 years of age, rather than under 12, and the raising of the limit on income beyond which the deduction must be reduced dollar for dollar.

Previously, a married couple could not claim this deduction if they earned over $5,100. Every dollar earned over $4,500 served only to reduce their deduction. Under the new law, the maximum income limit is $6,000 and for every dollar over that the deduction is reduced dollar for dollar.

Q — Do I have to supply any records to take the new minimum standard deduction?

A — No, you don't. The new minimum standard deduction is to be claimed in lieu of the 10 per cent standard deduction if it results in a larger deduction by those taxpayers who don't itemize. However, where married couples file separate returns they both must itemize or they must use the same type standard deduction.

Q — I didn't get a 1040 instruction booklet in the mail this year. Where can I get one?

A — Many banks, post offices and other public places carry stocks of federal tax forms and the instruction booklet. You can also obtain a copy at any local Internal Revenue Service office.

Q — Do I have to pay tax on the moving expense reimbursement I received from my new employer?

A — This reimbursement to new employees is taxable income. However, under the 1964 tax law, the costs of moving yourself, your family and your household goods and effects may be claimed as deductions on your return provided certain conditions are met. You may claim this deduction and still claim the 10 per cent standard deduction or the minimum standard deduction.

Q — I understand there is a $100 floor on casualty and theft loss deductions. Last year, we experienced several minor losses. Taken together they exceeded $100. Can we deduct the balance over that amount?

A — No. Casualty and theft losses or property used for personal purposes must exceed $100 for each casualty or theft, and only the excess over $100 per loss may be deducted on federal tax returns. The exception to this is when a husband and wife both experience losses in the same casualty or theft. In that case there is just one $100 limit if they file a joint return. If they both lost property in the same casualty or theft all losses over $100 are deductible if properly substantiated.

Remember a theft loss should ordinarily be reported to the police, also, other substantiation should be available to establish the value of the articles involved.

Q — I should have a sizable refund this year. Can I split it up and take part in cash and part in savings bonds?

A — No. You must elect to take your refund either in cash or bonds. However, part of the overpayment may be applied to next year's tax. And then the rest taken either in cash or bonds.

Q — I closed an especially big deal last year that boosted my year's commissions nearly $2,500 over the average of my past 4 years' income. Can I use the new income averaging provision to reduce the taxes on this amount?

A — No, you can't. Income averaging may come into operation when your 1964 income exceeds one and one-third times the average of your prior four years' income. However, this excess must be more than $3,000.

Q — I had to sell off about half of my breeding livestock because of the drought in our area. Do I have to pay taxes on my profits? In the spring I plan to use the proceeds from the sale to build up my herd again.

A — The law has special provisions to cover drought - forced sales of certain livestock. Details on this and other forms of tax relief for farmers stricken by drought are described in our free booklet, "Farmer's Tax Guide". A copy may be obtained free from our office or your county agent.

Q — I just received a notice from you asking that I list my Social Security number on all future tax returns. I don't have a number. Do I have to have one and if so, where can I get one?

A — The law now requires that tax returns be identified by number as well as the name of the taxpayer. The Social Security numbering system is being used to meet this requirement.

If you don't have a number, one can be obtained by simply filling out an application. Applications (Form SS-5) may be obtained either at local Internal Revenue offices or those of the Social Security Administration. Form SS-5 is also available at most local post offices.

Q — I moved shortly after I filed my return for last year. How can I make sure my refund check gets to me without delay?

A — Notify your local post office and the District Director with whom you file your return of your new address.

Some historians believe that the baronial and royal parties assembled on opposite sides of the Thames and met on a small island in the river to seal the Magna Carta.

Permissive Legislation Urged in School Bus Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Proponents of a bill requiring school boards to provide bus transportation for non-public school pupils heard a veteran lawmaker predict Wednesday night that permissive legislation is the only kind "with a chance."

Rep. Fred K. Cassel, R-Wyandot, dean of House Republicans in point of service, told the House Education Committee he feels a permissive bill by Rep. Raymond E. Hildebrand, R-Lucas, is the one most likely to win approval.

A resolution censuring alleged appointment policies of Gov. James A. Rhodes and rejection of a fifth Rhodes' appointment in six days were the only actions at a four-hour Senate session marked by bitter debate.

Democrats were behind both moves, utilizing the 16-15 majority they acquired temporarily due to the illness of Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton.

Paul Mecklenborg of Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Council for Educational Freedom, presented a prepared statement to the Education Committee in support of a compulsory bus bill offered by Reps. Ralph B. Kohnen Jr., R-Hamilton, and Harold Romer, D-Mercer. They also spoke in support of the measure.

Mecklenborg stressed the safety of children and was critical of permissive legislation, which he asserted "would not correct this situation and probably would intensify it."

Three dozen new bills were introduced yesterday in the House and Senate, bringing the total to 583 for the assembly now ending its seventh work week.

Among new bills were proposals to put community television antenna systems under jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission, extend unemployment compensation coverage to Great Lakes seamen, and permit driver's licenses for the mentally ill under certain conditions.

Rep. Marigene Valiquette, D-Lucas, introduced a resolution to abolish state bar examinations as a requirement to practice law.

Views on TV-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Randall thinks that television is a nice place to visit, but he doesn't want to live there.

Randall was a happy inhabitant of the television community from 1952 to 1955 when he played Harvey Kewitz, Wally Cox's now-it-all-chum, in the beloved "Mr. Peepers" series. "That part has meant everything to me as an actor," Randall admitted gratefully. "Before that I'd been doing all right in New York, with some pretty good radio work and a few parts in Broadway shows. But after 'Mr. Peepers,' leads on Broadway opened up and so did good parts in films."

Randall occasionally returns to the scene of his first real success for a guest shot in one or another series but insists that he is not interested in tackling another series.

"I don't want to make all the money in the world," he said, "and I like to work in a more leisurely way. When we were making the movie picture, 'The Seven Faces of Dr. Lao,' we took several weeks developing the right kind of makeup and wigs, and then revised them several times to get the precise effects we wanted."

"There isn't time for that sort of attention in television," Randall believes that if "Mr. Peepers" had been one of this season's new shows, it would have been a loser.

"I got hold of an old kinescope of one of our shows the other day and showed it during a lecture on cinematography at New York University," he said. "I sat there, dying with laughter—but those kids didn't crack a smile."

"Oh, well, times change and we change. Popular entertainment is always topical. We went out for some sort of truth about teachers, showing them as underpaid, sloppily dressed in $45 suits. Wally and I each wore the same suit for three years and in all that time they were never pressed, never cleaned."

Recommended tonight: "The Perry Como Show," NBC, 10-11 (Eastern Standard Time) — from Boston, with Lena Horne and pianist Peter Nero as guest stars; "The Defenders," CBS, 10-11 — Bethel Leslie and Ruth White in a drama about a child caught in the middle of a divorce action.

15 Western Reserve Students Book Fast

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fifteen Western Reserve University students started a 48-hour fast at 12 midnight Wednesday to protest U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

More and More Women Taking Responsible Jobs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More and more women are moving into jobs once held only by men, and Ohio is no exception. Ohio women's jobs today range from post office truck driver and forest fire lookouts to city council members and bank executives.

Ohio has a congresswoman and a former U. S. District Court chief justice, the highest federal judicial post in the nation ever held by a member of her sex.

Florence Allen, now 80 and retired, was judge on the Ohio Supreme Court until her appointment in 1934 by President Roosevelt to the U. S. Court of Appeals. Miss Allen eventually became chief justice of the U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Rep. Frances Bolton, 79, has been representing Ohio's 22nd District in the U. S. Congress since 1940. She was elected to National Farmers Organization meeting at Miami Trace High school.

A "whole hog sausage supper" slated to start at 5:30 p. m. will precede the program which begins at 8 p. m.

Rossiter is an outspoken exponent of a relatively high net farm income in ratio with the increase in national income.

Besides serving as bank president, he is chairman of the advisory committee to the director of the Farmers Home Administration of Nebraska; a member of the advisory committee seeking industrial uses for surplus farm commodities, and a past chairman of the Independent Bankers Assn. Farm income study committee.

fill the unexpired term of her late husband, Chester. The suburban Cleveland Republican also organized the Army Nurse Corps during World War II.

The Ohio Municipal League says more and more women are serving on city councils and taking part in city government and that a quarter of city and village finance directors are women.

Nine Ohio communities have women mayors and Hamilton, a city of nearly 100,000, has a female vice mayor.

Mrs. Freida McCandless was elected vice mayor of Hamilton in 1963 by receiving the second highest number of votes in the city council election. She is the first woman vice mayor of the city, and only the second woman to be elected to the council.

Kenton is the largest Ohio community with a woman mayor, Mrs. Helen Saulsberry. Seven smaller communities have women mayors, and Miss Olive Huston serves as mayor of Xenia in the commission form of city government.

Ohio's only women common pleas court judges are Evelyn W. Coffman of Washington Court House and Geraldine Macelwane of Toledo. Ohio women also serve as judges in probate, municipal and county courts.

One municipal court judge, Blanche Krupansky, 39, of Cleveland was formerly an assistant attorney general, serving as counsel for the Ohio Bureau of Workman's Compensation.

Ohio also has women in the state legislature. Mrs. Margaret Denison, R-Warren, is a housewife, elected in 1963; Mrs. Anne Donnelly, D-Cleveland, a widow, has served since 1957; Miss Marry E. Gowan, D-Akron, a court reporter, was elected in 1963; Mrs. Bernice MacKenzie, D-Canton, served from 1941-42 and was re-elected in 1959; Mrs. Ethel G. Swanbeck, R-Huron, a teacher, was elected in 1955; Miss Marigene Valiquette, D-Toledo, a lawyer, was elected in 1963; and Clare E. Weisenborn, R-Dayton, garden editor for the Journal Herald, has served since 1954.

There are no women in the Ohio Senate.

You're missing a lot when you own a Volkswagen.

A VW has fewer parts than other cars because it needs fewer parts.

There's no bulky drive shaft to transfer engine power to the rear wheels. Our car's engine is in back to start with (and to maintain traction with). That's why it doesn't need a drive shaft.

And it doesn't need a radiator, or a water pump, or hoses. Because the engine's cooled with air, not water.

(When you drive your first VW, you may miss putting in antifreeze, rust inhibitors, and whatnot. But you'll soon get used to it.)

The stuff a Volkswagen doesn't use, it doesn't have to haul land waste gas on. Which is one reason it averages 32 miles per gallon of regular. And the parts you don't buy, you'll never repair. So you can't waste money on that.

Now you know why you can drive a VW for years and years with a lot of parts missing. And never miss them.

Gegner Loses New Round in Rights Fuss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Yellow Springs barber Lewis E. Gegner has lost another round in his legal battle against Ohio's public accommodations laws.

The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday dismissed as moot—without issue—Gegner's appeal challenging the accommodations laws as applied to his trade.

The high court, in a 7-0 decision, did not go into the merits of the case because it said the barber has gone out of business since the litigation originated.

The 55-year-old Gegner operated his shop for 31 years before selling it last March. The shop was the target of numerous civil rights demonstrations after he refused in 1961 to cut the hair of Paul N. Graham, a Negro chemist.

Gegner contended he did not know how to cut the hair of Negroes and contested a 2nd district appellate court decision holding the accommodations laws valid as they applied to barbers.

Even after the decision, there were fresh reports that the court fight might have to start from scratch again. Gegner's attorney, Harry W. Kyle of Xenia, told of the decision, said Gegner may open another barber shop. Kyle said he felt the Supreme Court decision was against Gegner's old shop and not necessarily against Gegner.

Rhodes Plan On Welfare Under Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Minority Democrats in the Ohio Legislature have promised "positive recommendations" for welfare legislation in retaliation to the "thinly disguised ripper bill" offered by the Republican administration.

House Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D - Belmont, said Wednesday his party has asked professional welfare administrators at all levels for their suggestions.

In criticizing the administration bill, the minority leader said: "This is a ripper bill aimed at permitting the present administration to replace all hold-over personnel in the Department of Welfare and then to give the newly appointed political staff the cloak of classified service."

Burchwell, a 6-3 senior, has tallied 1,441 points in three seasons at Centralia, while Search has notched 946 points over the past two years.

Dartmouth Wins First In 34 Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Joseph's Hawks won their 15th straight, the Connecticut Huskies won their 14th straight and the Princeton Tigers won their 10th in a row.

Nevertheless, the Hawks, the Huskies and the Tigers yielded the college basketball spotlight today to the down-trodden Dartmouth Indians.

Beaten in 33 straight Ivy League games, the longest losing streak in the history of the league, the Indians smote Brown 84-70 on their home court at Hanover, N.H.

It was Dartmouth's first Ivy victory since Feb. 8, 1963 when the Indians beat Columbia 58-57.

The Indians came from 11 points back to score their memorable victory. Chris Kinum, a 6-foot-4 junior from East Orange, N.J. playing in his first game of the season, provided the spark. He scored only 11 points, but his floor play, rebounding and defensive work was a big factor.

Once beaten St. Joseph's, third-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, upped its record to 25-1 by whipping St. Bonaventure 95-87 at Philadelphia behind Cliff Anderson's 27 points and Tom Duff's 25.

Unranked Connecticut, which meets St. Joseph's in the first round of the NCAA tournament Monday, made its record 22-2 by overwhelming Colgate 101-66 at Hamilton, N.Y., behind Toby Kimball's 28 points.

Princeton, also headed for the NCAA, upped its record to 19-5 by defeating Penn 81-71 in All-America Bill Bradley's final game on the Tigers' Dillon Gym court. The two-time All-America and Player of the Year scored 19 points and was given a three-minute standing ovation when he was taken out in the last minute.

Ninth-ranked Villanova, the only other team in The AP Top Ten to play Wednesday night, trampled Seton Hall 84-63 at South Orange, N.J. Bill Melchioni, with 22, and Jim Washington with 16 combined for 38 points as the Wildcats, NIT-bound, boosted their record to 20-4.

Louisville thwarted Wichita's bid to nail down the Missouri Valley Conference championship by scoring a 79-70 home court victory over the Wheatshockers. John Reuther's 29 points and Eddie Creamer's 20 paced the Cardinals.

Ed Jucker, who resigned as Cincinnati coach last week, closed out his career as Bearcat mentor on a victorious note. The Bearcats whipped their city rival, Xavier, 102-72, then carried Jucker off the court.

Ohio Fishermen Starting To Itch

By KEN MCCREARY
For The Associated Press

With March prancing into Ohio like a frisky lamb, and spring three weeks away (at least according to the calendar), most of the almost-a-million fishermen in Buckeye country are eagerly awaiting their first chance to wet a line.

In fact, some of the more impatient have already ventured to a favorite lake, stream or pond, with varying lack of success.

Again this spring, many Ohio anglers will tackle the fishing without being ready — without having their tackle and gear in first class condition. Now is the time to be sure you're not caught with your tackle down.

Smooth-working gear not only makes angling more enjoyable, but more profitable. One lunker on the stringer is worth a dozen tales about "the one that got away."

Whether you cast or spin-cast your reel is perhaps the most important part of your fishing gear. Time taken to thoroughly clean and condition reels will pay off later; most reels come with lubricating instructions and it's wise to follow them exactly.

When you disassemble a reel, keep the parts positioned so you'll remember exactly how and where they fit. Clean and oil each component, removing any sand or foreign matter. As you reassemble the reel, each part should go into place easily — if you have to force it, something is wrong.

After conditioning the reel, check the line for any frayed or worn places which could lose that big one. If the line needs replacing, you can usually discard the first 50 yards or so, then use the rest for backing. Remember you'll get better, more accurate casts with a full reel.

No matter how well you care for the reel and line, if your rod lets you down you're still in trouble. Check each guide for grooves cut by constant casting; a bad guide can ruin a new line. Examine all ferrules to be sure they're not worn or bent and check the rod seats for worn threads or a bad fit.

You can put the cork grip in "like-new" shape by scrubbing it with a good kitchen cleanser or with fine steel wool dipped in thinner. Finish the job by going over the grip with very fine sandpaper.

Tinkering with the tackle box may be the most enjoyable part of the winter work.

Check each and every lure carefully, being certain that the points on every hook are sharp. More good fish are lost because of dull hooks than all other reasons combined. Use a small, grooved hone or a file to sharpen hooks.

Next, check the finish on all your lures; don't be afraid to apply a little pain to your battered favorite. You may discover a real "killer" combination.

If the finish on spinners and spoons has become dull, a rub-down with fine steel wool will restore them to fish-catching condition.

If you're a fly fisherman, you can restore beat-up flies by holding them over a steaming teakettle. To waterproof dry flies, dip them in a commercial fly dope or a solution of one ounce of paraffin dissolved in a pint of carbon tetrachloride. Be careful when using carbon tet, though.

When you put your tackle box back together, keep in mind that a little organization now will pay dividends later, when you don't have to waste fishing time looking for what you want. Try to arrange surface plugs in one section, medium runners in another, and deep diving plugs in another.

Be sure to check sinkers, bobbers, leaders and other components to make sure you have sizes and numbers you'll need. A small pair of wire cutting pliers, waterproof matches, a few band aids, and insect repellent are valuable "extras" in your tackle box.

Make it a "must" to check over your foul weather gear and your boots or waders. A patch in time can spare you some real discomfort later.

When you get all of your tackle and gear cleaned and conditioned, you can relax and wait for that first fine weather (or until the urge to wet a line overcomes you), knowing the attention and time you spend now may spell the difference between frustration and a full stringer in the weeks to come.

Evansville '5' Is Challenged

Southern Illinois To Test Top Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Evansville's undefeated Aces, defending NCAA college division basketball champions and No. 1 in The Associated Press small-college poll for the second straight season, are looking forward to a third meeting with Southern Illinois.

Evansville's closest brushes with disaster this season came in two one-point victories over Southern Illinois, which placed third in the final AP poll.

The Aces and the Salukis, starting the NCAA tournament trial in regionalists this week, can meet again in Evansville for the small-college championship. To make it, each will have to defeat four opponents in tourney games.

Evansville Coach Arad McCutchan said, "From the standpoint of winning you'd possibly like to play somebody else, but Southern Illinois is a great team and they deserve another shot at us. We wouldn't like to see them rubbed out by some other team."

McCutchan said he and his players have been feeling no special pressure from being unbeaten and favored.

"We try to take a casual attitude toward it," he said. "It may be this is the time it may start. We realize it's one defeat and out."

To avoid staleness, McCutchan is keeping workouts hard but short — no more than 90 minutes for his starters.

Evansville won't get a tournament shot at Central State of Ohio, No. 2 in the small college poll and the only other undefeated team in the Top Ten. Central State is not in the NCAA tourney.

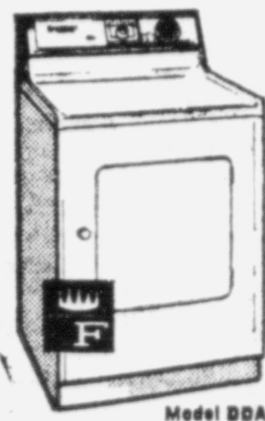

The final Top Ten, with won-lost records through Saturday, Feb. 27, and total points:

1. Evansville 24-0	175
2. Central St., Ohio 23-0	145
3. Southern Ill. 16-5	94
4. High Point 26-3	83

Mustang Boosters Planning Band Fund Raising Projects

The Westfall Booster club, during a recent meeting at the Westfall High School, viewed a band uniform, tailored by the Fehheimer Bros. Co., Cincinnati.

An expense of approximately $4,000 is anticipated to uniform the band for the fall of 1965. Various methods of fund raising were discussed. The booster members held a sale dinner at the implement dealers sale Feb. 27.

Candy has been ordered and will be sold by booster members.

A merchandise selling campaign for band members was discussed and will be decided at the March meeting.

The group decided to hold a volleyball game between boosters and faculty, and a girls basketball game. Admission tickets and refreshments will be sold by the booster club.

BOOSTERS voted to seed and fertilize the football field at the first date possible, and agreed to proceed with plans to purchase the necessary equipment for the backstop for the baseball field.

The Athletic Committee requested the assistance of the booster club in organizing nec-

UofC Coach Closes Out Cage Career

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ed Jucker has closed out a brilliant five-year coaching career at Cincinnati in a blaze of glory.

The Bearcats romped to an easy 102-72 victory Wednesday night over cross-town rival Xavier, marking Jucker's finale as U.C. coach.

Jucker, who was carried off the court by his players, has resigned as coach, after posting a 113-28 record in his five seasons, along with two NCAA championships.

The victory was the Bearcats' third in a row and enabled them to finish the season with a 14-12 record and a 22-10 edge in the series over the Musketeers.

It also was the finale for the Muskies, who finished with a disappointing 11-15 season.

In other action Wednesday, Bill Backenst scored 17 of his 23 points in the second half as Toledo nipped Kent State 73-71 in a Mid-American Conference clash, and Bob Dwors hit for 27, including a key three-pointer in the waning minutes as Bowling Green stopped Loyola of Chicago, 88-82.

Watson Is Handed Indiana Reins

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Lou Watson, who has been part of Indiana University basketball 16 of the last 19 years, will take on the rugged assignment of succeeding head coach Branch McCracken and rebuilding the Hoosiers.

Watson knew exactly what he faced when he accepted the job Wednesday, effective at the end of the current season. He has been McCracken's assistant since 1958.

"I'll lose the seven top boys from this year, and it's going to be rough," Watson said. "And recruiting is getting tougher all the time."

Celtics Defeated On Home Court

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Fred Schaus isn't surprised that the Los Angeles Lakers took two of the only three games the Boston Celtics have lost on their home court this season.

"Any time we play the Celtics we feel we're going to win," Schaus said Wednesday night after Los Angeles came away with a 104-102 victory at Boston. "If we didn't, we should hang up."

St. Louis beat Philadelphia 124-110, Baltimore walloped Cincinnati 151-108 and Detroit downed San Francisco 110-107 in other games Wednesday night.

Gary Player Hopes To Repeat Victory

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player officially joined the 1965 pro golf tour today with the first round of the $65,000 Pensacola Open, and he thinks he may get his season off to a good start.

"Here it's not how hard you hit the ball but how well," Player said Wednesday after touring the 6,142-yard, par-72 Pensacola Country Club course in 69.

Terrell, Machen Get Clay Offer

CHICAGO (AP) — Winner of the World Boxing Association-sanctioned heavyweight title bout between Ernie Terrell and Eddie Machen Friday night may get a September match here with Cassius Clay, generally accepted heavyweight champion.

Sponsors of the 15-round Terrell-Machen scrap at the International Amphitheatre disclosed today that Clay spokesmen approached them concerning the September bout, possibly at Comiskey Park.

Irv Schoenwald, co-promoter of Friday night's fight, said that if Clay chose to fight Terrell or Machen, a better site would be McCormick Place, capable of seating 20,000.

"We could get closed-circuit television coverage equal to any available elsewhere and it would be better holding the fight indoors for TV purposes," said Schoenwald.

Ben Bentley, veteran fight publicist handling the Terrell-Machen bout, said Herbert Muhammad, son of Black Muslim head, Elijah Muhammad, and John Ali, secretary of the Negro sect to which Clay belongs as Muhammad Ali, expressed interest in a Chicago title defense against Friday night's winner.

Clay reportedly now is in Miami, Fla., gearing for intensive preparation for his May 25 rematch with Sonny Liston in Boston.

Westfall Grid Mothers Plan Smorgasbord

The Football Mothers of Westfall High met with coach A. A. Elsea to formulate plans for their annual smorgasbord, to be held April 25 at Westfall.

This group has been responsible for the purchase of a seven-man sled used by the football team in their 1964 practice sessions. Members also provided a steak dinner preceeding each game for the team, their coaches and managers.

Additional income is needed to pay the balance of the sled and assure the group income for the 1965 season. Mrs. Juanita Bowen was appointed to contact orchestras for a dance to be held in April.

Arrangements will be completed at the next meeting to be held 8 p. m. Mar. 30, at Westfall.

Old Bullpen Ace Helps Reds Hurlers

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds' young relief pitching sensation gives a lot of credit to the team's old bullpen wheelhorse.

"He not only discusses the hitters with us, but Ol' Bill makes you feel better than the hitter," says Billy McCool. "He gives you confidence, something every pitcher needs."

The 20-year-old lefthander was talking about Bill Henry, a southpaw from Texas who turned 37 a few days after the 1964 season ended. That was the season when McCool made his debut as a Red, posting a 6-5 record. He had an earned run average of 2.42.

Henry ended the season with a 2-2 record. But the veteran's earned run average was 0.86—best for the team—and his contribution also included the moral support for youngsters like McCool.

"He says that when the manager calls me in, he figures I must be better than the first hitter I'm going to face or he wouldn't send me in there," McCool explained. "He makes you feel you've got the battle won before you go in."

Wynn Sees Tribe Hurling As Near Tops

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Big Early Wynn, former Indians' pitching great now a coach in spring training, thinks the Tribe pitching staff, "could be the best" in the American League.

Wynn, who won 300 games as a major league pitcher, said Wednesday, "I wouldn't want to put these kids on the spot by saying point blank we've got the potential to have the best pitching staff in the league, but it's a good staff and nobody is going to make these guys look bad—unless everybody does a complete about face."

Wynn said Sony Siebert, Sam McDowell and Luis Tiant "all have good stuff and are still learning." About Jack Kralick, Wynn said "he knows how to pitch. The only thing I worry about is his control."

The Tribe added relief pitcher Gary Bell to the roster Wednesday. Pitcher Bud Daley, however, still has not agreed to terms and is threatening retirement rather than take an estimated $5,000 pay cut.

Local Duo Third In Pin Tourney

William Fowler and Mike Brown, of Circleville, bowling in the doubles competition at the District VFW tournament at Gahanna during the past week-end placed third with a score of 1,298.

Right behind in fourth place was another Circleville duo of Noble Barr and Lowell Ferguson, with a score of 1,295.

In team competition, the local VFW representative placed tenth.

RED BIRDS TRY OUT WINGS—Two standout St. Louis Cardinal pitchers give their pitching arms a workout in the Red Birds St. Petersburg, Fla., spring training camp. They are Bob Gibson (45) and Curt Simmons (31).

Sandy Koufax's Aches Bring Dodger Happiness

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sandy Koufax hurts all over and Los Angeles Dodger brass couldn't be happier about it.

Koufax reported the usual case of winter hibernation aches, and pains following his first workout of the spring Wednesday. Then why the smiles around the Dodgers' Vero Beach, Fla., camp?

Well, Koufax's left arm—the one that wins all those ball games and has earned Sandy three straight National League earned run titles — came through its first test in fine fashion.

Koufax missed the last six weeks of the 1964 season with an inflammation of his left elbow, suffered in a slide at Milwaukee. The 29-year-old Dodger southpaw gave his arm its first test Wednesday and was quite content with the results.

"I ache all over," Koufax said after hurling 15 minutes of batting practice. "About the time I started to get loose, I got too tired to pitch anymore. But there was no trouble with my arm. Everything is fine."

And while Koufax's first workout was brightening the Dodger camp, the San Francisco Giants weren't making much progress with two other pitchers, veteran Bob Shaw, and Japanese lefthander Masanori Murakami.

Shaw, 7-6 last year, is resisting an $8,000 slash to $30,000 and is busy tending his orange orchards in Jupiter, Fla., while the Giants go through their first week of training in Casa Grande, Ariz.

Shaw won five games in relief early last season before slumping badly and remarked, "If I started poorly last season and finished strong, and wound up with the same won-lost record, they probably would have offered me a raise."

To which Giant Vice President Chub Feeney replied, "If he pitched in the first half the way he did in the second half, he wouldn't have been on the team — he would have been in Tacoma." — a farm team.

The Giants got some moral support from Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick in the Murakami case. The commissioner said "the Giants have proof they legally purchased Murakami's contract. If he fails to report and is suspended, we expect the suspension to be recognized in Japan the same as it is in the United States."

Frick said if the Japanese Baseball Federation does not recognize the Giants' rights to Murakami, "the proposed trip of the Pittsburgh Pirates to Japan next fall will be canceled."

Braves Meet Winchester In Teays Valley Sectional

Logan Elm's basketball team moves back into the cage spotlight at Teays Valley 8 p. m. tomorrow when the Braves meet Canal Winchester to determine the winner of the upper bracket.

The team that wins Friday night will move into Class A Central District action at the Columbus Coliseum. The victors will play the winner of the Mt. Gilead-Elgin game, scheduled at the Marion Sectional tonight.

The first round in the District will be played Mar. 10. The finals are scheduled Mar. 12.

The field of 50 original Class A teams in the Central District has been cut to 16. At the Teays Valley sectional site, Aquinas and Columbus St. Mary's will clash 8 p. m. Saturday to determine the other district bound team.

CANAL WINCHESTER has a record very similar to Logan Elm. The Indians had won eight and dropped six at the time of the tournament drawing. In tourney play they edged Westfall in a thrilling 66-65 game.

In the second outing against University, one of four seeded teams in the sectional, they won by a convincing 73-56 final score. However, the game was much closer than the final margin for the first three quarters.

Logan Elm has also played Westfall and University, edging the Mustangs twice and defeating University once, 60-50.

In tournament play, the Winchester Indians have presented a balanced scoring attack, paced by Steve Smith.

Against Westfall, Smith dumped in 19 points on five field goals and nine foul shots. He added 16 points against University for a tournament total of 35 markers.

Scott Guiler has scored 30 points, 13 against Westfall and 17 against University. Jim Burke has 29, with 14 of them coming in the first game and 15 in the second.

BALANCED scoring and a rugged defense have been the two contributing factors to Logan Elm's 13-6 record this year.

In the first tournament outing against Madison South the Braves were paced by Rick Shaw's 13 points. Russ Merrin scored 12 and Mike Spangler came off the bench late in the third quarter and finished the game with 11.

Adding ample scoring support to that trio were Jeff Lutz and Jim Moorehead with eight each and Darryl Reichelderfer with six.

The Braves are a comparatively young team with the only starting seniors playing at guard. They are tournament veteran Jeff Lutz, who started on the team that two years ago won the district only to drop the first game in the regionals at Athens, and Rick Shaw.

The forwards are sophomore Russ Merrin and Junior Don Schaal. Another junior, Darryl Reichelderfer, is at center.

Although young, the Braves are experienced. Lutz, Shaw and Reichelderfer were all starters last year.

LOGAN ELM coach Keith Merrin has a good bench to call on when needed. At guard, he can move senior Mike Spangler into the starting five. At forward he has sophomore Jim Moorehead and senior Raymond Jones ready. Both are capable of scoring well on a given night.

The center spot can be handled well by Rick Rawlins, a junior who Merrin kept on the reserve squad much of the year to gain experience.

Logan Elm is a tournament-minded team. During four previous seasons the Braves have played in District action two times, moving on to the regional tournament at Athens both times.

Last year, they played in the finals of the sectional tournament at Teays Valley, only to lose to Berne-Union.

Added to this sparkling tournament record are two Scioto Valley Conference championships during the past three years.

Waterloo Meets Its Waterloo, But Fame of Wonders Lingers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ever wonder why you haven't heard much lately about Waterloo High School which spawned the most colorful quintet ever to capture an Ohio high school basketball championship?

Well, the reason is—Waterloo High School isn't there any more. Waterloo has met its Waterloo.

But memories linger on of the fabled "Wonders" who sauntered, dressed in overalls, out of the Lawrence County hills three decades ago to put Class B (now Class A) titles back to back.

luster. As conversation pieces, the Wonders eclipse the current

But, here's what happened to Waterloo high school:

Consolidation welded the known as Symmes Valley Local, hiding forever the Waterloo continue to be told and retold.

But to those who watched the hill-country kids, their saga needs no embellishment.

The five youngsters—the tallest 5-11—got their early training on a tennis court, and polished their plays on rainy days in a haymow. Their hilarious, unorthodox antics at the old State Fairgrounds Coliseum, scene of their twin title triumphs, have never been approached.

In the opening contest, and with 15 Class B opponents standing between them and the championship, Beryl Drummond was fouled before anyone had scored a point. Drummond calmly ignored the usual free throw method, bounced the ball off the floor and through the hoop, and from then on it was bedlam.

Like "Wrong-Way Corrigan," the Wonders now and then dunked a two-pointer in the enemy's basket to help keep him in the fight, or took a rebound off the foe's bankboard and handed him the ball for another try.

With only five boys on the team, a player occasionally walked off the floor to sit on the bench with Hariston and munch a hotdog while his mates ran wild with fancy feats of ball-handling legendariness.

On one occasion Wyman Roberts took a long pass from a teammate and dribbled off the Coliseum floor and out a doorway. Seconds later he came in a side-court doorway, still dribbling, and fired a two-pointer from out-of-bounds. The unap-preciative official declined to allow the field goal.

Once Orlyn Roberts, Wyman's cousin, was standing unmenaced with the ball near the sideline. A vociferous fan behind him started yelling, "Shoot, Shoot!"—and Orlyn calmly tossed him the ball with a "You try it!"

Rounding out the team were
Curt McMahon and Stewart
Wiseman—and all five are still around, a bit punchier than when high school students. Or-lyn Roberts, drawing a service-injury pension, is still in Waterloo, and cousin Wyman is a farmer there. Drummond is a greenkeeper, Wiseman a teacher, McMahon a plant worker, and coach Hariston has an auto agency.

There wasn't, by today's standards, a star on the team.
But as a unit they dominated Ohio basketball more than any team before or since. When anyone talks of Buckeye basketball, the topic always turns to the Wonders after all these years—to the Wonders from Waterloo
High School which is no more.

Old-Time Vaudeville Show On Walnut Twp. PTA Card

A real old-time Vaudeville Show will be one of the high-lights of the Walnut Twp. Parent-Teacher Assn. Jitney Supper scheduled Mar. 12 at the school.

Those with talent are encouraged to polish up their old acts. Several outstanding acts have been billed already, but more are needed to fill out a genuine program of entertainment.

Local performers are urged to tune up their banjos, get out their straw hats and canes and put on their dancing shoes for tryouts which will be conducted tomorrow from 9 to 11 a. m. at Walnut Twp. School.

Acts already signed include the "Two-by-Fours", a popular barbershop quartet, the Walnut Twp. "Rockettes", "Crazy Fingers Merhley and his Honky-Tonk Piano" and a lovely and talented "Guest Star".

DESPITE this array of proven talent, PTA spokesmen said additional performers are needed.

The show will start at 7:30 p. m. at the school following the PTA's annual Jitney Supper. A complete show card will be announced next week.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Public Works reported today that contractors' bids to build the Ohio Youth Commission's 120-boy youth camp in the Maumee State Forest southwest of Toledo were well within state estimates.

The department reported total bids amounted to $568,705 and the estimate was $618,600.

Commission Chairman Wayne Fogle said the boys will be screened for placement in the camp, and probably, most will come from the Fairfield School for Boys near Lancaster.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Carl W. Elliott, 26, of Chillicothe, has been sentenced to a three-year prison term for dispensing drugs (pep pills) without a license.

Federal Judge Mel G. Underwood imposed the sentence Wednesday in U. S. District Court. Elliott was sentenced to serve one year in prison on each of eight counts, but Underwood stipulated that he serve the first two years of the sentence consecutively with the remaining sentences to run concurrently.

Judge Underwood referred the case of Henry Silas Brookins, 51, of Jackson, Ohio, for a probational investigation after Brookins pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling $33,450 from the First National Bank of Jackson and altering back records.

WASHINGTON (AP)—William Cody Kelly, a Cincinnati lawyer, will be appointed chief administrative assistant in charge of office operations at GOP National Headquarters, Ray C. Bliss, chairman-elect of the Republican National Committee announced today.

Kelly, a graduate of Yale college and University of Cincinnati College of Law, is a former vice mayor of Cincinnati. He will take over April 1, the day Bliss replaces Dean Burch as national chairman. Bliss said Kelly will not practice law while he is at GOP national headquarters.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eggs continue to be an outstanding bargain as a substitute for meat now that Lent has begun.

As the meat counters of food markets across the nation various cuts of beef may well be carrying bargain price tags. Roasts and steaks are reported in good supply.

Severe cold weather delayed harvests of vegetables in some areas, and supplies are generally lower.

Among the better buys at the produce counters the weekend shopper may find cabbage, carrots, onions and possibly lettuce and spinach. Citrus fruits are reported in very good supply.

The major companies that make instant coffee have cut prices drastically. General Foods, which led the price cuts, said its reduction of 24 cents for a 6-ounce jar of instant Maxwell House put the coffee at the lowest wholesale price since it was introduced 15 years ago.

Egg prices are still declining in many sections of the nation as heavy supplies continue.

Shrimp appears to be the seafood that is abundant nearly everywhere. Grocers may put bargain price tags on it.

New Vice President For Armco Elected

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Joseph W. Holton has been elected a vice president of the Armco Steel Corp. and also named managing director of the Armco International Division, President Logan T. Johnston announced today. Both appointments will be effective April 1.

All Elementary Buildings To Be Ready in 1965

Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of city schools, said today that all elementary schools, including the four rooms at Atwater, should be completed in time for the 1965-66 school year.

In yesterday's Herald the target date for completion of the Atwater addition was mistakenly listed as 1966.

Jacobs noted an overcrowded condition already exists in the Atwater building.

Board of Elections Open for Registration

The office will be open from 9 a. m. until noon Saturday; and 7-9 p. m. Tuesday for persons who are not registered to vote or for those who must make note of a change in address.

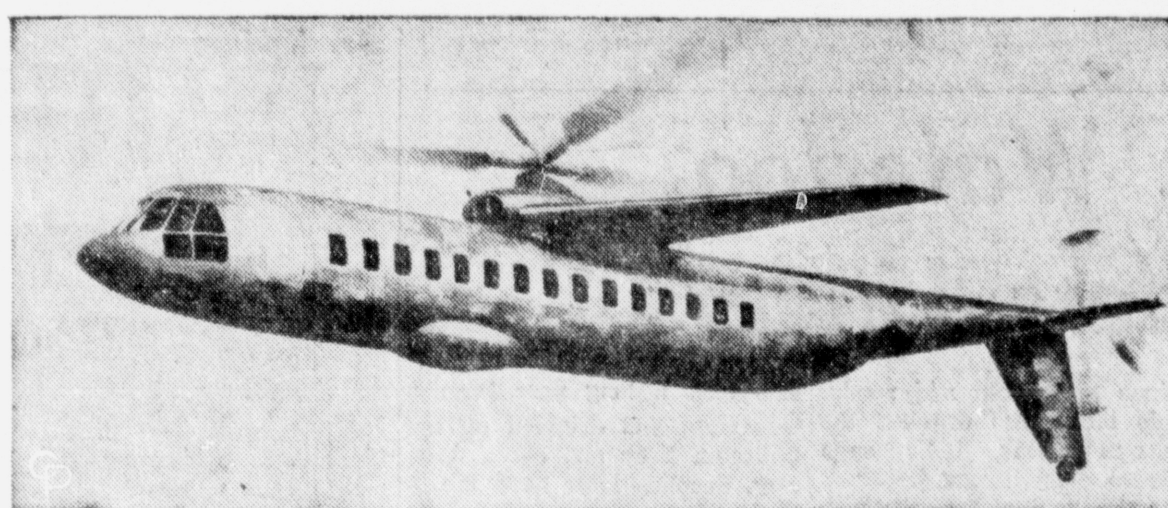

Voter registration for the May primary closes 4 p. m. Mar. 24. Voters who are in doubt as to their registration status are advised to contact the Board of Elections at GR 4-4947.

Loan Firm Opens Up Near U.S. Tax Office

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A loan company here has set up business where it may be needed most—in the same building and a few doors from the office of the Internal Revenue Service.

It is attracting customers with a sign that says "borrow $50 to $2,000 to pay your income tax."

Some insects freeze, without injury, and await the spring thaw.

60-PASSENGER "AIRBUS"—This 60-passenger, helicopter-type "airbus" may be typical of the next generation of short-haul commercial transports and could be flying within five years, according to Vice President M. C. Haddon of Lockheed, Burbank, Calif. The winged rotorcraft would cruise at 375 miles an hour and would have a range of about 500 miles.
